OVERALL FEEDBACK – Accountability:

Student Feedback:

I demonstrated accountability and professionalism throughout the patient care process during my placement. I maintained privacy and confidentiality by following all protocols, displayed ethical and responsible conduct, and practiced safely within the scope of the PSW role. There were times when situation arised where there were things that had to be done which was out of my scope and during those times, I called my clinical instructor and nurse in-charge for assistance. I followed direction, accepted supervision, and sought assistance when required. While supporting a patient who was experiencing significant pain that affected their ability to perform daily activities, I ensured care was provided safely, ethically, and with respect for dignity and comfort. I adhered to agency and Centennial College policies, maintained punctuality and regular attendance, wore the proper uniform at all times, and have always completed assignments on time.

Clinical Instructor Feedback.

Sajjan consistently demonstrated accountability and professionalism during the midterm placement on the 5E Rehab Unit at the SHN-Centenary site. Patient privacy and confidentiality were maintained by adhering to all protocols and practicing ethically within the Personal Support Worker (PSW) scope of practice. When situations required action beyond the PSW role, Sajjan consulted the clinical instructor or nurse in charge, demonstrating sound judgment and respect for safe practice boundaries. Compassionate care was provided, particularly to patients experiencing significant pain, with a focus on preserving their dignity and comfort. Sajjan adhered to agency and Centennial College policies, maintained exemplary punctuality and attendance, wore the appropriate uniform, and completed all assignments on time. Sajjan's ethical conduct, willingness to seek supervision, and commitment to continuous learning indicate a developing professional dedicated to safe, competent, and ethical client care.

OVERALL FEEDBACK – Knowledge/Skill Competence:*Student Feedback:

I demonstrated good knowledge and skill competence in providing safe, effective, and individualized care. I identified client needs, abilities, and limitations and organized care according to care plans, priorities, and timeframes. When assisting a patient who was in significant pain and had difficulty with mobility and daily activities, I adapted my care approach to maintain comfort, safety, and efficiency while following proper procedures. I continued to improve my lifting, transferring, mobility techniques and also safely assisted them to go the bathroom and back to bed all under the assistance, guidance and supervision from my clinical instructor, and consistently applied infection prevention and safety practice to use. Although I didn't use proper body mechanics in every situation and for some situations my body did it subconsciously to protect my back and to apply enough pressure when assisting with lifting and transfer, but I am constantly improving on that aspect and will continue to do so in the future.

Clinical Instructor Feedback:

Sajjan demonstrated strong professional judgment and competence throughout the midterm placement on the 5E Rehab Unit at the SHN-Centenary site. Individualized patient needs were accurately assessed, taking into account physical, environmental, psychosocial, and cultural factors. Care was organized effectively in accordance with patient care plans and priorities, with flexibility to adapt to changing needs. Sajjan delivered care safely and efficiently, consistently respecting patient comfort, preferences, and dignity. Activities of daily living, including bed baths, oral care, shaving, dressing assistance, and support with sensory aids and prosthetics, were performed competently. Safety protocols were consistently followed, including proper hand hygiene, use of personal protective equipment (PPE), equipment handling, and maintenance of a clean bedside environment. Sajjan demonstrated proficiency in lifts, transfers, and ambulation, utilizing correct body mechanics and assisting with mobility devices. Vital signs were measured accurately, patients were positioned to promote optimal breathing, and meal assistance included monitoring for swallowing difficulties. Care for patients with incontinence, catheters, and drainage devices was provided sensitively and in accordance with scheduled routines. Sajjan's systematic and reflective approach

| OVERALL FEEDBACK – Interprofessional Communication: Student Feedback: I communicated effectively and professionally with clients, families, and members of the healthcare team. I objectively observed and reported changes in client conditions, including concerns related to pain, and completed charting accurately and in a timely and orderly manner. During confusion I asked my CI for assistance with charting. While caring for a patient experiencing significant pain, I used empathetic and therapeutic communication, actively listened to concerns, and shared relevant information with appropriate staff (Nurse or PSW in-charge) to support safe and coordinated care. I spoke with the patient’s family members in a professional manner and assured them that I would care for the patient ensuring the highest level of comfort, safety and privacy. Clinical Instructor Feedback: Sajjan demonstrated effective interprofessional communication skills and maintained appropriate therapeutic boundaries throughout the midterm placement on the 5E Rehab Unit at the SHN-Centenary site. Patients were observed objectively, and abnormal changes in condition were reported promptly to appropriate staff, ensuring continuity of care and patient safety. Documentation was completed accurately, legibly, and clearly in both written and electronic charting formats, reflecting attention to detail and adherence to professional standards. Sajjan communicated respectfully with patients, families, multidisciplinary team members, classmates, and the clinical instructor, demonstrating active listening and responding empathetically to individual needs and concerns. Appropriate questions were asked to gather perspectives and information, and information was clarified and summarized effectively. Sajjan is developing proficiency in problem-solving and negotiation when addressing care challenges. This communication style, characterized by respect, honesty, and integrity, contributes to positive therapeutic relationships and effective collaboration within the healthcare team. Continued practice in problem-solving and negotiation will further strengthen Sajjan’s interprofessional communication competence. | S | S |

Therapeutic Relationships and Professionalism Established and maintains professional relationships with the health care team and the clients. Empathy and caring is shown to the clients who are the focus of the relationship. Relationships are based on trust, respect, intimacy, and the appropriate use of power (College of Nurses of Ontario, 2009).

| OVERALL FEEDBACK - Therapeutic Relationships and Professionalism:Student Feedback:I established and maintained therapeutic and professional relationships with clients and the healthcare team. I respected individual dignity, privacy, and choices while promoting independence and autonomy. When assisting a patient who was experiencing significant pain, I demonstrated empathy, patience, and emotional support while providing care and responding to their needs. I worked effectively as a team member and practiced reflective self-evaluation by recognizing my strengths and identifying areas for continued improvement. Clinical Instructor Feedback:Sajjan consistently established and maintained professional, therapeutic relationships with patients and the healthcare team throughout the midterm placement on the 5E Rehab Unit at the SHN-Centenary site. Respect for individual rights was demonstrated by upholding dignity, confidentiality, privacy, and supporting patient preferences, choices, and involvement in decision-making. Patient independence was promoted by respecting autonomy and maximizing opportunities for self-care and participation in daily activities. When supporting individuals with socialization and therapeutic activities, Sajjan introduced cognitive stimulation and encouraged active engagement aligned with each patient's interests. Challenging behaviours of residents with cognitive impairment were managed effectively using therapeutic approaches, appropriate verbal and non-verbal communication, and strong self-awareness of personal behaviour and its impact on others. Skills in environmental cueing and identifying potential triggers and underlying causes of behaviours are developing and will continue to strengthen with ongoing practice and experience. Sajjan functioned effectively as a team member by consistently assisting healthcare team members, reporting and communicating regularly, and developing positive interprofessional relationships. Reflective self-evaluation was demonstrated by recognizing personal strengths, limitations, and areas for improvement, indicating a commitment to professional growth.
